Exhibition introduction

“Mongolian Nomads” exhibition displays Mongolian artist Jargalsaikhan’s felt artwork, which he has created for over 20 years using talent, capability and experience. Jargalsaikhan has taken felt craft, which is national artwork of ancient Mongolia, and used his own style and technique to create a unique design.

Jargalsaikhan’s art draws on natural features, tradition, culture and history using 12-17 different types of natural wools of various colors, 32-64 kinds of painted wools such as wool, cashmere and sheep, goat, camel, yak, cow and horse hair.

Jargalsaikhan's art is enjoyed by both Mongolian and other foreign travel agencies, souvenir shops, art enthusiasts and tourists. These customers not only appreciate and buy Jargalsaikhan's felt paintings but continue to order other paintings to use in office décor and for gifts.
